MOTION TO MOVE
THE PAID FIREMEN*To Public Building on West Side Tabled Till Next Meeting.*COUNCIL WAS EVENLY DIVIDED

Councilman Cyrus Stoner Does Not Think There Is Much Chance for New Quarters and Old Ones Are Not Fit He Says—Business at Special Meeting.

A motion offered at a special meeting of Town Council last evening to move the paid fire department from its present quarters to the West Side Public Building was laid on the table until the next meeting after it had been argued pro and con by six members of Council on each side. The resolution was offered by Councilman Cyrus Stoner. He stated that the present quarters of the paid department are unfit for both the men and horses and that a change should be made before winter sets in. Chairman Stoner said he does not have much hope of a favorable opinion in the new fire house proposition, and brought matters to a climax last night when he proposed the removal of the paid department's quarters to the West Side. He was supported in his stand by five other Councilmen, Friel, Brennan, Decker, J. T. Hetzel and Dutton. Opposed to the resolution were Councilmen H. C. Hays, Simon Hay, Clark, Berg, Bishop and President J. D. Millard. Councilman E. L. Hetzel was non-committal. He did not express his views on the motion.

The matter was finally tabled and may be taken up at the next meeting. Included in Councilman Stoner's resolution was a clause to expend $20,000 to build a new fire house, which he said would be all that would be needed to put the West Side building in shape for quarters for the paid department.

Street matters consumed most of the time last night. The ordinance for paving the West Side will be passed but must remain on the table for another month before it can be acted upon. Finally, Councilman Dutton wanted bids asked again, but under the 1911 street paving law, this cannot be done until the ordinance becomes effective.

Some Councilmen were not clear in their views on the curbing situation on the West Side. The property owners have agreed to stand the cost of the curbs on Sixth street and Leisenring avenue, where the railroad will pass. In order to get a uniform curb set promptly the property owners petitioned Council to let the contract for curbs be let to the lowest bidder, which would save the cost. After a discussion Clerk Bishop's suggestion that the successful contractor article with the property owners for the collection of the money was agreed to. Concrete curbs will be set.

The Cottage avenue property line was finally adopted. The new line does not line up with the retaining wall of John Frank's, and representatives of J. B. Hays' office admitted an error had been made by them, but claimed they wanted Mr. Frank to be sure of the line before proceeding. The matter will probably be amicably adjusted. The borough engineer, it was explained, is not supposed to furnish property lines.

Bob Louis Pizzoli and C. W. Better failed to live up to the instructions in the advertisements for the Hill street bridge and the bids were returned for revision. The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for grading South Arch street, the cost being estimated at $258.50. The new grades on North Eighth street and Marietta avenue were adopted without comment. The dirt taken off this street will be used to fill in Race street. Chairman Hay reported that a bad place in the Blackstone land road at the West Penn crossing would be repaired. M. H. Butler's complaint that water accumulates on his lot at the corner of Patterson avenue and Race street was referred to the Street Committee. Councilman Buttner called attention to the communication of the Automobile Club of Fayette County regarding the condition of the West Side hill. The committee were terse and no action was taken as the ordinance had already been passed for paving it.

John Duggan volunteered to pave Marietta avenue from Seventh street to the alley running between Seventh and Eighth streets. The matter was referred to the Street Committee.

Burgess J. L. Evans submitted the following report for October: Number of arrests, 123; paid fines, $1; convicted, $5; discharged, 11. Cash from fines, $12; licenses, $19; permits, $3; other sources, $550; total, $148.50.

Borough Treasurer L. W. Rutter reported the following balance: General Fund, $10,670.01; Sewer Fund, $2,933.49; Refunding Fund, $4,713.58.

GIRDSERS SWUNG OVER POSSUM RUN BRANCH

The big steel girders for the West or Maryland railroad were yesterday swung in place over the Possum Run branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. Only the crossings remain to be placed over Marietta and Leisenring avenues to complete the structural work on the West Side.

Two passenger coaches are on their way to Confluence where they will be used transporting the track laying force which starts next week laying rails towards Ohlerville. Another locomotive has also been ordered. The road now has 3 1/2 miles of track laid on this division.

Local Nimrods Have Good Luck

School Director John J. Dutton returned to town last night after spending two days in the mountains about Ohlerville in search of game. He was accompanied by Ralph Horpik and the two had exceptional luck, considering the general complaint over game being scarce. The two stored a source that took them along Pittsburg and Main streets on the way home and the result was that their haul attracted attention.

Between them the hunters brought down 20 gray squirrels, seven rabbits, three pheasants, three red squirrels, a black squirrel and a snipe. This is the best record of the season, to date.

Other hunters are returning, some of them having met with a fair measure of success. Mike Donadio went over to Fayette City and hunted two days with his brothers, Jake and Tony. Between the three of them they bowled over 17 rabbits and three quail.

K. M. Hoffman, P. H. Harmoning, James Guyan, W. B. Carson, Smith Patterson and Harvey Sileo composed a party of hunters who will leave tomorrow morning on a several weeks hunting expedition in Center county. They expect to locate in the forest reservations in that county. They have a complete camping outfit and will take along as their cook James Blake, steward at the Elks' Club. They will be joined later by other hunters.

Among the local hunters who left this morning on B. & O. train No. 48 were Dr. M. H. Koeltner, who will spend the day at Confluence, and Alex Patterson who will try his luck at Ohlerville.

K. K. Kramer returned home last evening with a nice lot of rabbits captured near J. A. Guller's farm near Marshall. John Koepf came in from Confluence after a two days' hunt. He brought home about a dozen gray squirrels and a pheasant.

George Enos returned Thursday from Confluence with eight rabbits, two pheasants, and two squirrels. Albert S. Sileo had three rabbits and two pheasants, while Heaton Carson had 19 rabbits and several pheasants. Milton McCormick got two pheasants and three squirrels. Carl Bishop and Tom Sileo got eight rabbits, two squirrels and a pheasant at Indiana Head.

Superintendent C. B. Franks of the I. C. Friel works at Leisenring went to Confluence to join A. J. White and a party, Dr. J. W. Churchill, and E. C. Sherlick went to Sand Patch.

Hunting Fatality In Somerset County

Yesterday marked the first hunting fatality in this section when Ross Bowby was shot and killed by a gun in the hands of Charles S. Clair. The accident occurred near Garrett, Somerset county. Bowby was 25 years old and was well known in that section. Clair and Bowby were brother-in-laws and yesterday morning the two started on a hunting trip in Blue Ridge mountain, a short distance from Garrett. Bowby was in the lead with his back to Clair. Just as Clair pulled the trigger Bowby tripped on a stick protruding from the weeds and fell. He expired in ten minutes.

The body was brought to Garrett and removed to the home of his mother. Clair is proprietor of a restaurant at Garrett.

FEAR MISSIONARIES MAY HAVE MET DEATH

SHANGHAI, Nov. 4.—Four are expected today for the safety of 300 inmates of the Western mission near the Yangtze river, which was burned. Dr. Booth, head of the mission, asked the imperial to grant an armistice of two hours to allow the removal of the missionaries and students.

Firing was only stopped 50 minutes. Shells from the rebel forts drove back the Red Cross steamer which was coming to the rescue.

Pope-Hartford Is Latest Arrival

A new Pope-Hartford is the latest addition to the automobile population of Connellsville and it is probably the finest. The car was purchased by John H. Work, He and William Work drove it out from Pittsburgh yesterday. The car is one of the finest examples of automobile construction that has struck Connellsville. The body is the phaeton style, being somewhat smaller than the Pope-Hartford owned by A. D. Solis. It is the 1912 model and attracted considerable attention in Pittsburg, where high priced cars are sufficiently numerous as not to be common.

The car is literally a "mile-a-minute" machine. It can make 30 or 35 miles an hour on third speed and easily 50 miles on high. The horsepower is rated at 50. The car is finished in maroon, with mahogany interior and black enamel trimmings. Complete it represents an investment of $3,500. The engine is practically noiseless. The run from Pittsburg was made with out mishap and in good time, although no effort was made to break records.

Chief of Police George Hetzel last evening arrested a Slavonian woman for shoplifting. She had lifted a pair of shoes, which were not mates, from the store of Zeckhauser & Timpon on West Main street. The woman had previously purchased a new pair of shoes, and was wearing them, but going out she hooked another pair and took them beneath her coat.

After paying for the shoes she was permitted to depart in peace. Chief Hetzel said she gave no name that was intelligible and as for the address, she simply said she had only been here a little while and lived "way down," wherever that might be.

Government Is Given Setback

United Press Telegram.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—The United States authorities temporarily lost their battle to obtain possession of the books and documents of the International Bridge & Structural Iron Workers today when Judge Kenesaw, in circuit court, held that the sheriff need not surrender the evidence to the government until the Indiana Supreme Court has considered Judge Markey's decision awarding the government the evidence.

The decision was appealed today at noon.

Finishing Touches
On the New Hall

The Connellsville Athletic Association is rapidly getting things in shape for the opening of the basketball season. Finishing touches are being placed on the hall and the players have been ordered to start work on Monday. They will be given a week of preliminary work before the Central league season opens. Manager Coffey has suggested that the players report tomorrow in order that they may get a workout Monday morning.

The wife has arrived and the cage is being built today. New wire was ordered this season and the lower strands will be one solid piece around the cage. The seats are in place and the contractors are installing the electric wiring today.

No announcement has been made as to the sale of seats or season tickets, but this will probably come Monday. The management is also considering the advisability of maintaining an advance sale office in Scottdale for the benefit of the fans there. There have been no additions to the ranks of the players already here. Dark, Kummer, Roberty and Zack are training regularly and already are in splendid condition.

Powers Demand More Humanity

United Press Telegram.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The powers will probably act to prevent the Italians from further massacres of men, women and children of Tripoli and to enforce the observance of the rules of civilized warfare. Notes have been sent, sounding the continental governments on their attitude toward making a formal demand that barbaric acts cease and to force compliance with armed strength, if necessary. Germany started the movement.

It is said that 10,000 men, women and children have been shot to death without trial. The oasis outside Tripoli is a stretch-place owing to decaying bodies. War correspondents say that such horrible scenes have never before been duplicated. "Pravda" Grotzky denies the tales of Italian barbarities but the stories have leaked out despite rigid censorship.

Lewis Seints Plot To Subdue Miners

United Press Telegram.

BRIDGEPORT, O., Nov. 4.—That the big mining interests all over the United States are planning to consolidate to wage war upon the mine workers was the assertion of Thomas L. Lewis, former President of the United Mine Workers, today. He promises to disclose details of the scheme.

An effort was made recently by half a dozen coal companies in Northern Ohio to consolidate. This, according to Lewis, is only part of a plan that is to subdue the mines of the entire country, engineered by the same financial powers that secured control of the railroads and the steel industry.

Lewis advocates, as a check to the movement, the universal settlement of mine workers' wage scales next year.

MANY LITTLE FOLKS ATTEND STORY HOUR

Not All Who Sought Admission Could Be Accommodated Yesterday.

HAS BECOME GREAT FEATURE

More Than 200 Children of the First and Second Grades of the Public Schools in Connellsville Were in Attendance—Parents Brought Some.

The story hour room at the Carnegie Free Library was the scene of an unusually large gathering of children yesterday afternoon, when Miss Sara Seaton, assistant librarian, told the second of a series of Japanese fairy stories. The attendance again exceeded 200 and many children were turned away on account of being late.

The story hour begins promptly at 3:30 o'clock and all children who come after that time are not permitted to enter the room. Miss Seaton has become an expert in relating stories and the excellent manner in which she has the children trained is remarkable.

Miss Seaton Percy, second assistant librarian and whose duty it is to see that the children arrive at their destination safely has troubles of her own. This hour is supposed to be for the children of the first and second grades of the public schools, but yesterday there were present children who were merely out of their babyhood. One little girl rather than miss the story brought her little baby sister to the meeting. Boys and girls are entrusted with their smaller brothers and sisters and when they become separated as is often the case, it is Miss Percy that comes to their rescue. One little fellow wept bitterly yesterday when he happened to miss his little sister. As he happened to arrive late he was finally consoled and was satisfied with remaining at the library until the story hour was over.

The question that is now puzzling those in charge of the library is how to amuse the children until time for the story hour. Some children attending the schools close to the library arrive as early as 3 o'clock while those attending the South Side schools and from other wards arrive just in time for the story. It is likely that before long games suitable for the children will be introduced.

The story hour room is attractive with drawings, plants and pictures and presents a very neat and cozy appearance. The hour is strictly for the children and the attention given by more than 200 of them yesterday was remarkable. A great uproar prevailed until 3:30 o'clock, but when Miss Seaton started out with "Once upon a time," it became so quiet that one would scarcely believe there were a dozen children in the room.

Yesterday afternoon many parents brought their children and called for them at the close of the story. While the story hours have been going on at the library for the past several years, the interest displayed by the children and their parents was never as great as this year. The stories are always entertaining and that the children enjoyed is shown by their attendance and attention.

The story told by Miss Seaton yesterday was "The Monkey and the Jelly Fish."

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The first fatality of the hunting season in Westmoreland county occurred Thursday near Hermiston No. 2, a mining town. For the Children of His Boyhood Days.

Small Lad's Souvenir

A home builder in California hit upon a charming idea when he had his little son make the impression of his hands in the wet cement of the walk before his door. Although the imprint was made in 1887, the outlines of the little hands are perfectly clear and will remain as a lasting souvenir of the small child's play days.

The Blushing Tree.
Among the many wonders of the vast Florida swamps there is nothing more surprising than the blushing tree. It actually blushes when the rain falls upon it. The mysterious and beautiful glow of color which it assumes in a rainstorm baffles description. As the rain drenches a tree, gradually yet unmistakably the green gives way to pink. In a few minutes the green fades from sight. Only in a few half hidden spots beneath the broad branches and on the trunk is there a tinge of green to be seen. The tree is as pink as the cheeks of a healthy girl. After an hour or more, when the shower is over, the tree assumes its familiar green once more. As it is changing back the spectator suddenly realizes the secret of the phenomenon. Certain tiny insects and not the tree itself change color. These peculiar parasites are possessed of the power of camouflage. In the bright warm sunshine they are green, but when the chilly rain falls upon them they contract their tiny backs and become a pretty pink in tint. Millions of these change the color of the tree and make it appear to be blushing.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Baste the Bear."
"Baste the bear" is a funny game which a boy or girl should know how to play. One player is the bear and sits in the center of a ring, choosing a second player to be his keeper. The latter stands by the bear, holding hands with him or her, grasping a short rope about two feet in length. The object of the players is to tag the bear without being tagged themselves either by the bear or his keeper. According to the rules, the players can only strike at the bear when the keeper calls, "My bear is fresh." If they do strike at the bear the players change places, the striker becoming the bear, the bear changing places with keeper and the former keeper joining the outside circle. It is the endeavor of the keeper to protect the bear while the other players dodge in and out in the endeavor to tag the bear without being tagged themselves.

The First Submarine.
A certain J. Day, who flourished in the eighteenth century, actually invented a boat which was capable of remaining under water, with a man on board, for a considerable length of time and at a depth of several feet. The vessel had a false bottom, standing on feet like a butcher's block, and in this ballast necessary to sink the boat was placed. When the manipulator within the vessel desired to come to the surface he tilted the bolts which held the false bottom and the vessel rose to the surface of its own accord, leaving the false bottom behind.—Chicago Tribune.

Origin of Yanks.
Yankee—This name, with various suffixes, forms the name of many places in the United States. The name is a corruption of the Massachusetts Indian pronunciation of the word "English" (Yengwese) and was bestowed upon the inhabitants of New England by the people of Virginia when they refused to aid them in a war with the Cherokees, it meaning to them "wards." After the battle of Bunker Hill the people of New England, having established a reputation for bravery, accepted the name.—United States Geological Survey Bulletin.

HAND MADE BAGS.

The upper bag is made of tapestry and bound with tarnished gold braid with tassels. One spray of flowers in the tapestry design is outlined with heavy embroidery in gold thread, and the rest of the tapestry is concealed by the braiding done in gold thread. The pointed lid, which appears the same on each side of the bag, is made of plush old rose material, trimmed with gold braid and crossed by a network of the tapestry.

The velvet is used for the other bag, combined with champagne colored satin, edged with gold cord. Fringes are made as shown by tying gold threads around the cord. The decorative medallions have for their centers gilt braid in the form of a daisy, the braid being sewed on edge-wise. Around these daisies is gold lace edging, sewed flat on the outer edge, the inner edge being curved up against the edgewise braid. The top of the bag is gathered to two straight bands of gilt braid. Inside the band are stout steel stays which spring together and close the top.

DISTRESSING CASE OF HIVES CURED

Body Covered with Large Red Marks. Face Also Affected. Cuticura Ointment Eased Skin Right Away and Completely Cured.

I was in a most distressing condition and made it impossible for me to sleep the rest of that night. He told me that I must have eaten something poisonous, and I had the hives. He prescribed a medicine and also gave me some ointment. As the days went by I steadily grew worse, the marks changing from one part of my body to another. The medicine and ointment were of no use, and I felt greatly disappointed. SCOPE IS WIDE IN FEDERAL COURT

To Bring About Dissolution of the Steel Corporation.

EACH COMPANY IS ATTACKED

H. C. Frick Coke Company Go Back to Original Status Before a Subsidiary of the Carnegie Steel Company.
Directorate Not Sued.

Two notable facts developed on Friday in relation to the Government's petition, filed in the United States Circuit Court at the legal habitation of the big corporation was brought to Pittsburgh and had been carefully studied by an eminent lawyer. It contains 91 printed pages or nearly 45,000 words. The vastness of the fact seems to have been overlooked, or at least not duly emphasized, as this attorney expressed it that the "prayer" of the petition is not only for a dissolution of the holding, and not operating, corporation known as the United States Steel Corporation, but that with equal directness of language it prays the dissolution of every constituent company, which in 1901 was merged in the Carnegie Steel Corporation, that is, the dissolution of all these merged companies which themselves had been formed of many subsidiary companies.

So if the Government would win upon all its points the Carnegie Company remaining would not be that familiar just before the 1901 transfer but the Carnegie Steel Company of previous years before the Frick, Coke Company was taken in, before the Bessemer railroad, and prior to the Conneaut Dock Company and Oliver Mining company acquisitions. The other point discovered Friday is explanatory of what many have wondered over, the reason why the present board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation is not a defendant in the suit as a board and why several of these directors are not defendants even individually. The careful perusal of the petition disclosed to the legal analyzer that the theory of the Government's case proceeds upon praying that the time of its formation in 1901 the great corporation was formed for monopolization and in restraint of trade. So Charles M. Schwab, Andrew Carnegie, James Gayley and H. C. Frick were selected among the 18 individual defendants, other than the six trustees for bonds.

Against each of these four men, so well known in Pittsburgh, the allegation is that they were active participants in and advocates of the stupendous merger. In order to show that the bill of complaint attacks all of the underlying companies and also the many companies that had been previously merged in the larger companies of the United States Steel Corporation the four opening clauses of the prayer may be cited:

First, "That the court is asked 'To order, adjudge and decree that the combinations, conspiracies, and monopolizations are unlawful and that all done, or to be done, to carry out the same, or any part of the same, are violations of the Act of Congress of July 2, 1890' (the Sherman anti-trust statute)."

Second, "That the defendants, each and every one of them and the officials of said corporation be perpetually enjoined 'from conducting its business as hitherto and now.'"

Third, "That the United States Steel Corporation, in and of itself, as well as each and all of the elements composing it, collectively or separately, be decreed to be illegal and in restraint of trade and attempts at monopolization."

And here is the fourth prayer: "That each and all of said constituent or subsidiary companies, shown as aforesaid to have been combinations in restraint of trade and commerce, and in monopolization of trade and commerce, within the meaning of the anti-trust act each and of itself, as well as each and all of the elements composing each respectively, whether considered collectively or separately, be decreed to be illegal, in restraint of trade and an attempt at monopolization within the first and second sections of said act, and that each be dissolved."

Upon preceding pages of this printed petition are traced in minute detail the original formations of all the constituent companies of the United States Steel Corporation, which are all made defendants in the pending suit. The various holdings of the Carnegie Steel Company at the time of transfer occupy a page and one-half, the main enumeration being that of the Edgar Thompson works at Bessemer, Duquesne works, Homestead works at Monaca, the Carnegie and Lucy Furnaces, Howard Axal Company at Howard, Pa.; Oliver Mining Company, Frick Coke Company, Keystone Bridge Company, mills in Pittsburgh, Conneaut Dock Company and Bessemer & Union Railroads. The exact percentage of ownership in each is alleged and the list is a long and portentous one in appearance. After the great consolidation of 1901 there were placed under the operating charge of the Carnegie Steel Company the National Steel and the American Steel Hoop Companies.

One of the most interesting complications of underlying companies is that of the constituents of the American Steel & Wire Company. Among these components figure the Oliver Wire Company and the Oliver Steel Company of Pittsburgh. It is stated that the dissolution of the big corporation might not influence the court to decree the dissolution of the underlying elements of the larger components. Various considerations might exercise a continuing precedent.

In some cases plants had been started by the same ownership and finally combined, as it may possibly be shown, not in restraint of trade, but merely to centralize operation under heads already conducting each. The consolidation of certain companies before the passage of the Sherman law in 1890 might affect. So the surmountable victory of the Government in its main effort may not work putting asunder of the subsidiary companies of its large units.

The petition itself, though not in any direct words, furnishes the deduction that the Government seeks to prove the combination in 1901 to have been a designed conspiracy in restraint of trade and to procure a monopoly. It asks that a subpoena be ordered for Andrew Carnegie because it alleges he was in control of the Carnegie Steel Company, fully advised to the formation and character of the United States Steel Corporation, and combined in the plan to purchase and transfer his company to that giant corporation. James Gayley is cited because he is alleged to have been a participant in the formation of the big merger, because its vice president and director.

Charles M. Schwab is charged with having been active in forming the Carnegie Company when absorbed, and becoming the first president and member of the first directorate of the United States Steel Corporation. If C. Frick is accused of having been prominent in the old Carnegie Company, active in the effort to sell the Carnegie properties and merge them in the corporation, and a member of the first board of directors. The Rockefeller, senior and junior, John D.'s are summoned under the allegation that they held jurisdiction over the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron Mines and that both were parties in bringing about the huge consolidation.

E. H. Gary is alleged to have been also active and is accepted as the head and front of the offending from the Government viewpoint. J. P. Morgan, George W. Perkins and Charles Steele, are similarly charged with negotiations for the merger, being syndicate managers in charge of the organization of the corporation, and, excepting Perkins, members of the first directorate. Mr. Perkins came into the Morgan firm and the directorate of the United States Steel Corporation, and is alleged to have manipulated subsequent combinations. William P. Palmer is individually sued because as president of the American Steel and Wire Company he is alleged to have taken part in effecting the combination.

ASSET VALUES

Of the H. C. Frick Coke Company Set forth in Circular.

In a circular offering bonds of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, issued for payment of the coal storage purchased from the Pittsburgh and Monongahela River coal companies, it is said:

"As of July 1, 1911, this company owned and controlled in the Connellsville and Lower Connellsville coke regions, exclusive of the recent purchases, 68,760 acres of coal lands, 2,000 acres of surface land, tenement houses for 8,155 families, 68 mines, 20,100 beehive coke ovens (with a total capacity of over 1,000,000 tons of coke per month), together with the necessary railroad sidings and equipment of every kind and of modern and up-to-date type, for the operation of the mines and to full capacity."

The property of the H. C. Frick Coke Company is conservatively valued at $100,000,000, or over five times its total bonded indebtedness.

It is further said: "In order to provide an ample supply of good and cheap fuel for the blast furnaces and steel plants of the subsidiary companies in the United States Steel Corporation in the Pittsburgh District, the Ohio Valley Mahoning and Shomang valleys, Cleveland and Lorain, Ohio, this company recently purchased from the Pittsburgh Coal Company and the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company about 16,075 acres of coal land and 1,400 acres of surface land; about 1,000 beehive coke ovens; mine buildings and mine equipment; tenement houses and all improvements thereon, and all of these purchases money mortgage bonds were issued in payment for these properties."

"The mortgage provides for sinking fund payments to the trustee in event of the mining of the coal subject to the mortgage at a faster rate than the bonds are paid. The sinking fund can be used only for the payment of the bonds."

The Ship of State.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier once took a fall out of Sir Charles Tupper, for years leader of the Opposition, and Sir John Macdonald. Battering them on their self praise for their own political services to Canada, he admitted that they had sailed the ship of state fairly successfully, adding: "Sir John was at the helm and supplied the brains, while Sir Charles supplied the wind. His blowing filled the sails."

The Lamp That Saves The Eyes

Children naturally never think of possible strain on their eyesight when poring over a fascinating book. It is up to you to see they do not ruin their young eyes these long evenings by reading under a poor light.

The Rayo Lamp is an insurance against eye troubles, alike for young and old.

The Rayo is a low-priced lamp, but it is constructed on the soundest scientific principles, and there is not a better lamp made at any price. It is easy on the eyes because its light is so soft and white and widely diffused. And a Rayo Lamp never flickers.

Easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and swivel. Solid brass throughout, with handsome nickel finish; also in many other styles and finishes.

Ask your dealer to show you his Rayo lamp, or write for descriptive booklet.

Jimmy climbed the chicken ladder, kicked his chubby legs through the little middle for an instant, and finally, with much panting and tugging, wriggled his plump, round body into the Hutto hole. He called out when a handsome-looking hen was sitting patiently on a nest. He put out a cautious hand and the hen promptly gave it a vicious peck.

"Billy," he called angrily, "you got

A JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing an amendment to settle

"The Darlings of Paris," which will be seen at the Soisson Monday, Nov. 13 represents an expenditure of money considerably greater than is involved in many pretentious wholesaler's shows. The plot of the new book, which is the work of Charles E. Taylor, and the music by Leon E. Taylor, cost the management a large sum. So it will be seen when a manager has secured a musical comedy like "The Darlings of Paris," at the very best, he has not made a very profitable score and book, he has invested a small sized fortune. This is just a starter, though, for the work has to be staged, scenic artists employed and competent artists engaged to interpret the roles. If it's a success the manager has to pay the salaries and he makes thousands of dollars. If not, unless he be very wealthy, he is a bankrupt. "The Darlings of Paris" has paid a large dividend of the vast sum of money put into it. This show is more Parisian than Paris itself. It is the most French of all Charles E. Taylor. Extra added attraction, Gladys Sears, America's best comedienne, direct from her successful run at the Tivoli Music Hall, London, England.
